Cong to observe Nov 8 as ‘mourning day’

Nanded, Nov 6: The Congress Party has decided to take out a morcha against BJP led Union and State governments for various anti-social decisions on November 8 (Wednesday) in Nanded, informed district unit chief Govind Shinde in a press note on Monday.

On completion of one year of demonetisation of high-value notes of Rs 1,000 and Rs 500, the Congress Party has decided to observe it as a mourning day. The demonetisation, GST and other decisions have put people in great hardship. The inflation, unemployment, increasing prices of petroleum products and low prices to the

Sena bays for Chikhalikar’s blood

NANDED, NOV 6

The Shiv Sena activists staged a demonstration by beating dhols, demanding resignation of its own MLA from Loha Pratap Patil Chikhalikar for hobnobbing with the BJP during Nanded Waghala Municipal Corporation elections last month. The demonstration created tension for sometime on Monday afternoon. As a result the police had to round up 50 activists.

It may be noted here that MLA Pratap Patil Chikhalikar in spite of belonging to Shiv Sena, was in a leading role during campaigning on behalf of the BJP in the NWMC election held on October 11.

This has soured the relations of the BJP and Shiv Sena.

It is alleged that the Shiv Sena had become hostile to the Congress Party during the election, causing loss to its own party and finishing with only one seat out of 81 while the BJP got 6 seats.

The demand of resignation of Pratap Patil was raised for the loss of Shiv Sena in the election.

Demanding resignation of Patil, a dhol beating demonstration was staged by the Shiv Sena activists under the leadership of Prakash Maravar in front of residence of Patil.

In the morning hours activists of Shiv Sena and the BJP started gathering on the road heading towards Patil’s residence.

The police barricaded the road. This caused a tension for a while when the supporters of Pratap Patil and BJP activists and the Shiv Sena activists came face to face. To avoid untoward incident, the police rounded up 50 activists and released them after 2 hours.

Meanwhile, MLA Chikhalikar in a press conference said that if the Shiv Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray is not happy with his work, he can take action against him but in any case he is not going to tender his resignation.

He had informed the party chief prior to election that the Shiv Sena candidates might be ‘managed’ by the Congress Party but no cognizance was taken.

If the activists want to stage demonstration for their benefit, they can do so in front of his residence, he said.

THE ROLE OF TEACHER IN SWACCH BHARAT

NEELIMA MANGALKAR

Father of nation Mahatma Gandhi had seen the dream of ‘Swachh Bharat’. We must join hands to make this Swachh Bharat mission of the government a success. It is our duty to tell the future generation, ‘Cleanliness is a state of purity, clarity and precision.’ And the right person to guide and mould the children is none other than a teacher; as s/he is the one who ‘takes a hand, opens a mind and touches a heart.’ S/he will make this mission the formidable part of his/her life, guide and involve the children in such a way that it will become the prime mission of their life.

A teacher is a responsible citizen of our country and s/he deals with children and therefore his/her role in ‘swachh Bharat’ is important. School is a fundamental part of a teacher’s life. And therefore, the teacher can plan the cleanliness programme better. In fact, we can abbreviate SCHOOL as S-self, C-Classroom, H- Home, O- Out of school building, O-Outskirts of the school and L- Locality.

Focusing on self-cleanliness, the teacher can narrate stories to children thus inculcating the values of cleanliness in their life. S/he can conduct various innovative games and activities inculcating in them the significance of self-cleanliness.

Once the child comprehends the importance of self-cleanliness, s/he can take it to the next level. We can involve children in ‘Classroom cleanliness’ through various competitions like the cleanest row, the cleanest class and attractive display boards.

The teacher can assign task to the children that involves day to day observations, impact and result. They will draw graphs on the basis of their study; thus developing their thinking skills. They will educate their family and gradually the home will get involved in the cleanliness drive.

The teacher will enroll the interested parents in the Swachh Bharat campaign. They will be invited for the cleanliness drive and thus home and school will work hand in hand.

The next is ‘Outside and Outskirts’ of school. The cleanliness on the school campus can be made a fun activity for children. The teacher can take them out of the class and ask them to observe the plants and through discussion and presentations it can be engraved in their minds ‘Don’t be a litterbug, just give a tree a hug’.

The teacher will take them out of the campus and clean the area around the school. This will set an example for the passers-by. The school and home together can spread awareness among the people in the ‘Locality’ and city about cleanliness by organizing rallies, role-plays and street plays.

These activities when done with their friends, parents and teachers will be fun, excitement, sharing, caring, discipline, acting, practicing, learning and much more.

So, a teacher can surely make a difference in everybody’s life.

Let’s take a Swacchta stride, and make Bharatmaa pride
